Pathology & Laboratory Medicine Underrepresented Minority Summer Research Internship (PLUMS)

Summer Research Internship for Rising Junior Undergraduate Students

June 05, 2023 – August 04, 2023

Website: https://pathology.med.upenn.edu/education/PLUMS

Eligibility:
• UPENN student currently enrolled in an undergraduate program (including rising seniors)
• Successfully completed one year of undergraduate studies
• Interested in STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) – No previous research experience is required
• Applicants must have a GPA of 3.0 ("B") or higher
• Applicants must have completed at least 1 year of Biology and Chemistry
• Demonstrate an interest and potential to pursue a career in Pathology and Laboratory Medicine

Benefits:
• 9-week paid summer research internship
• Student empowerment through faculty mentorship connection
• Hands-on research experience with access to pathology residency didactic lessons
• iPad gift

Application:
• Completed application
• Resume
• Unofficial copy of transcript
• Personal Statement – see website for details
• Two letters of recommendation – see website for details

APPLICATION DEADLINE: January 31, 2023
@ 11:59 pm, EST

Under-represented in Medicine (URM) refers to individuals from a background that is traditionally underrepresented in medicine, including but not limited to racial and ethnic populations that are underrepresented in the medical profession relative to their numbers in the general population and those from disadvantaged backgrounds, identify as LGBTQ+, have disabilities, are first generation in the United States or first in their immediate family to attend college, or who otherwise would increase the diversity and inclusivity of our student and resident/fellow populations.

For more information, please email: PLUMS@pennmedicine.upenn.edu